

CrowdScreen

Certificate Of Hashtag Ownership

This document, issued on Monday 17th December, 2018 by Crowdscreen confirms your exclusive ownership of the hashtag, #likethecafe.

As of 10:11am on the aforementioned date, #likethecafe is not being actively mentioned in any tweets on the social media site, Twitter.

As this hashtag is unique, it means that you can use this hashtag at your event without noise from other users tweeting and without off-topic content.

Of course, there is no way to secure your hashtag. Once it's out there, there is no way to stop people from tweeting using the hashtag.

DISCLAIMER: We can't guarantee that your hashtag will only be used in future exclusively by you. Although you were the first to use this hashtag, you have no legal claim over it or right to stop other parties from using it. All emojis displayed on our website, tweet or otherwise broadcast by registermyhashtag.com do not necessarily reflect the actual emotional state of any any member of our team.

